Class Dates For Summer Set By Board

Summer school classes in Torrance schools will be held from June 22 to July 31 this year, the Torrance Board of Education decided Tuesday night.

Classes will be held at all elementary and high schools where enrollment is large enough. North High classes, however, will be held at South High because of construction work. The last unit of buildings at North High is now being built, and much of the area will be needed during the summer for construction work.

High school offerings will include courses in English, social studies, math, science, business, Spanish, and other subjects for which enrollment is large enough. Summer school costs are supported almost entirely by state funds.

Last year, some 4600 students, nearly one-fourth of the regular enrollment, took part in summer school.
